His gentleness and de- ered hemispheres, votion furnish the keynote to his wonderful personality. Kubelik, the master and artist, fades before Kubelik the father and husband. Mme. Kubelik's beauty and charm have been widely heralded, while the fame of the five children is almost as great as that of their distinguished father. First of all in importance, of course, come the twins, whose exploits have been watched with amusement and interest almost since the day of their birth, and who now at the advanced age of ten have become expert musicians on their own account. They are studing the violin under well known teachers, but not from their father, who insists that he has his hands full teaching himself to play.

"OUR NEW MINISTER.

The Grayce Scott players at the Auditorium shifted from international drama to rural comedy Sunday and presented "Our New Minister" to large and interested audiences on the opening day, This small town character play has seen service for a number of years and has amused thousands of people. It was written by Denman Thompson and has much of the homely humor and heart interest of his other success "The Old Homestead.

It tells a simple little story of a returned convict who was befriended by the pastor of the village church in splie of the protests o fsome of the spite of the protests of some of the There are a number of character types of the sort usually seen in stage pictures of country towns, some a bit exaggerated perhaps, but well drawn and entertainingly acted.

Mr. Ford is seen as the new minister who has a few advanced ideas and a mind of his own. He gives a clean cut impersonation of a likeable kind and while the part is no severe strain on his ability as an actor he predominates several of the more important

Miss Scott with but little to do is ingenious, girlish and pleasing. Miss Dudley and Miss Knott are seen in broad character types that are played with realism and some unique costume effects. Particularly is this true of the former.

Mr. Dailey walks away with the comedy honors as a rube constable, full of self-esteem and who lets a thief steal his clothes. Mr. Berthelet does a crabbed hypocrite in an approvedly despisable manner and Mr. Hillyer is a good natured villager with many speeches that provoked laughs.

Mr. Brazy does a slang character bi entertainingly and Mr. Thompson is very capable in a serious part. Other small roles are well taken care of.

THE DIAMOND MAKERS.

A lively, well-pictured two-reel The Metropolitan ministrels proved film, in which Robert Leonard shadows the diamond manufacturers. Marguerita Fischer appears as Sheda rounded up. There are a number of purely sensational scenes, better done than usual, including the fight on the roof tops and the destruction of the diamond plant. The scenes at the masque ball were effective. The photography is good and the production as a whole successful. At the Surprise theatre today.

AT THE NEW COLUMBIA,

The New Columbia theater was reopened Sunday by the Jack Lewis company in their first production, Plain Mary Jane.'

"Plain Mary Jane" is from the pen of Miron Leffingwell, a well known writer of modern plays, and tells a humanly interesting story in four acts, thrilling and interesting from the rise of the curtain to the final words in the last act.

Mr. Lewis has secured a capable and talented company for his South Bend engagement. He is supported by experienced people of stock reputation and also has engaged a crew of artists and builders, so that every show will have a complete production. A change of program will be made weekly. Evening performances starting at 8:15 and matinees on Thurs-
